Environmental Leadership

At Sherwin-Williams, we believe that providing a selection of ecologically friendly floorcovering solutions is more than just our job, it's our responsibility. As the demand for "green" products grows, so do our sustainable offerings. Along with ultra-durable floors that save you on replacement costs, we offer a selection of floorcoverings that meet high environmental standards and stringent LEED qualification requirements. And we do it without sacrificing availability, durability, or your budget.

We're proud to offer this collection from one of the best manufacturers in the industry and we are committed to sustainability, recycling, using renewable resources, and sourcing local materials.

Several of these flooring styles are made from recycled or low-emitting materials. All Premium Solution-Dyed Nylon styles contain 45% recycled content. All carpet styles are compliant with indoor air quality standards and are completely recyclable back into beautiful new carpet. Many of our carpet styles also feature the latest stain resistance technologies and antimicrobial properties that inhibit mildew and fungal growth.

Many of our floorcovering centers will even take your old carpet and padding and send it to be recycled. See your local Sherwin-Williams Floorcovering Center or call 800-524-5979 for the location nearest you.

It is also moisture resistant and resists mildew. 55-gauge thickness, 10-mil wear layer.

Inviting, wood: Warm and natural, this appealing wood visual owes its realism and detail to a sophisticated multi-stage print process and a nicely textured, embossed surface.
